Life
Is a drama,
And by observing the
Roles that others
Play,
We can sometimes gain
A better understanding of Ourselves.
"All the world is a stage;
We
Are but the actors."
Have I, too, been Acting?

It only takes
One
Certain
Person
To make the day
Worth coming.
If you'll but
Take my hand,
We can share
Joy, sorrow, and Love;
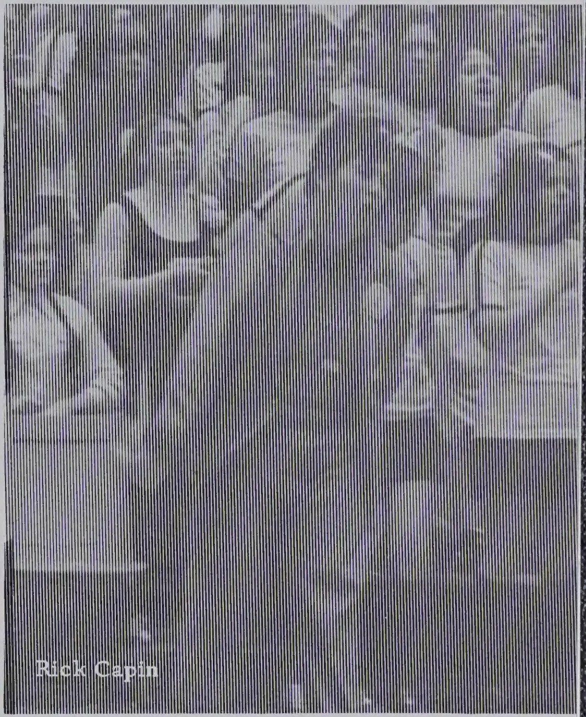
We can
Welcome the dawn--
Together.



Rick Capin

There's something
Magnetic about the Drama of human Competition--
The struggle for success.
It's an Overwhelming force
Which carries
Thousands to their feet at the sound of the whistle, or the Crack of the gun.
Is this the Force
That breeds
Desire within an Athlete?

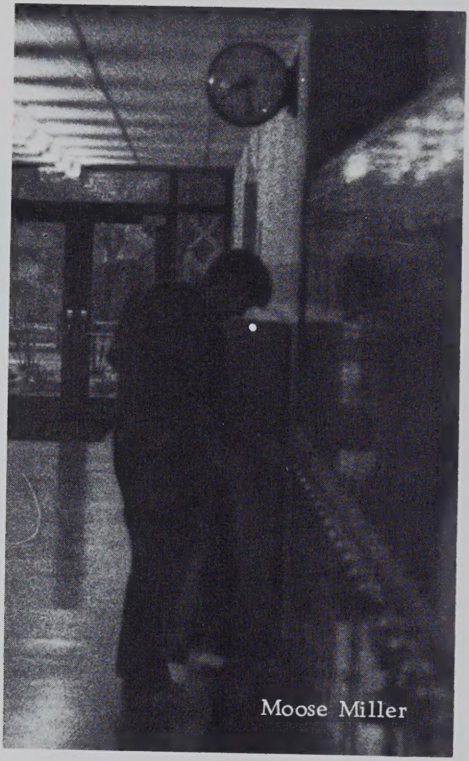
Dale DePew

Once,
I thought I found
God in you;
But you let me down, and
I lost Him.
After the hurt went away,
I looked to tomorrow
For an answer.

and Places



Moose Miller

For a long time, we filled the Requirements--
Did our homework, passed our tests--
We made the grade.
We started goofing around,
All in fun, but
We got carried away and did some
Irresponsible things. In time,
We grew up
And realized that we are Responsible for all we do.
We learned to put
Knowledge and fun in their Proper perspectives.

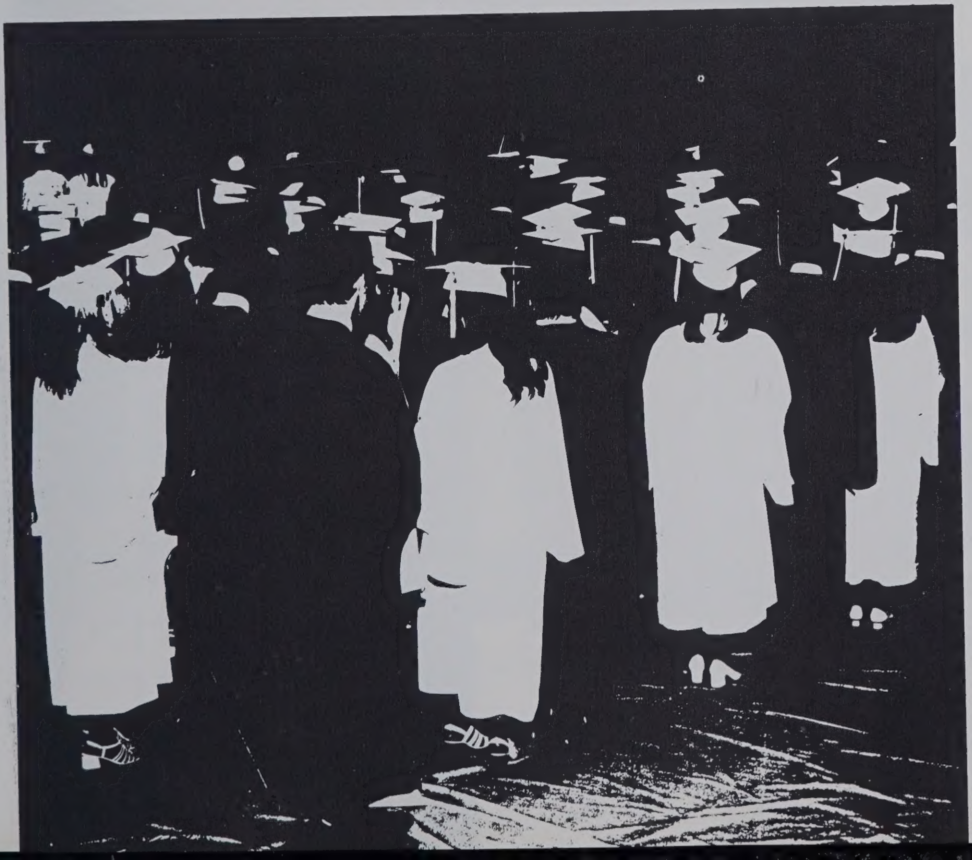
From This Moment On . . .



We leave behind memories not
Soon forgotten:
A first kiss,
The conference championships,
Semi-state tourney,
Banquet weekend,
The state track meet.
We'll remember the
"Crackerbox"
And the teachers--
Those we respected, those we Disliked, and those we Never got to know.
We'll look back on these moments
And Smile.
But,
What significance will these
Memories hold?
From this moment on . . .

"Mind Blower" Captures Miss Garrett Crown

Miss Mary Kay Clark, representing Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority, received the crown of Miss Garrett to highlight the "Garrett Days" activities. Mary Kay also accepted a trophy for the original talent portion with her comedy skit on drug abuse.

The 13 girls competing for the title of Miss Garrett, completed a questionnaire which served as a guide for the judges during a personal interview. In the closed afternoon session, the girls received points for the bathing suit competition. That evening, the Seniors opened the program by introducing themselves and performing a routine to "Too Many Chiefs and Not Enough Indians". The talent portion followed with singing, tap and creative dancing, sewing, and guitar playing. The girls then paraded in evening gowns for the judges. The five semi-finalists were named, and from them, Miss Mary Kay Clark was crowned Miss Garrett and Miss Connie Rapp, runner-up for the title.

Amid the excitement of parades, rides, and cotton Candy, Garrett was represented in the Miss DeKalb County pageant by Mary Kay Clark and Connie Rapp. In an afternoon session, the girls were judged in the swimsuit competition, and the evening contest under the lights demanded a talent presentation and an evening gown review from all contestants. In the final moments, Connie Rapp was named Miss DeKalb County, and Mary Kay Clark received second runner-up. Connie represented DeKalb County at the Indiana State Fair in August.

On November 20 and 21, th Seniors presented "An Evenin of One-Act Plays". For thre weeks, the cast worked with Mr. Bockman, Struggling t learn lines and portray characters. Finally having survived threats of cancellation, sagging enthusiasm, and weariness, the show went on. Senior band members tied the plays together with their presentations. "A Free Bus Ride to a Shopping Center" found seven Seniors taking a strange bus ride to a shopping center, or was it somewhere else? The second show explained "Why Teachers Go Nuts" in a comical classroom sketch. The mood then became serious for "No Greater Love", the story of a young doctor who finds that love is most important. The play earned $600 for the Senior Class.

Senior, Leslie Wise, Scores as Gridiron Queen

Red roses and congratulatory kisses were bestowed on Leslie Wise, the 1970 Football Homecoming Queen. The candidates were chosen by the team and the student body voted.

Leslie wore a mustard colored sweater and gloves with a matching plaid skirt, the apparel voted on by the candidates. The girls were chauffeured and ushered onto the field by their respective escorts: Freshmen, Randy Miller and Tom Kleeman, Sophomores, Frank Caprino and Randy McIntosh, Juniors, John Fetter and Stan Kinsey, Seniors, Harry Lung and Jerry Claxton. There the queen was announced by Linda Custer, Student Council president.

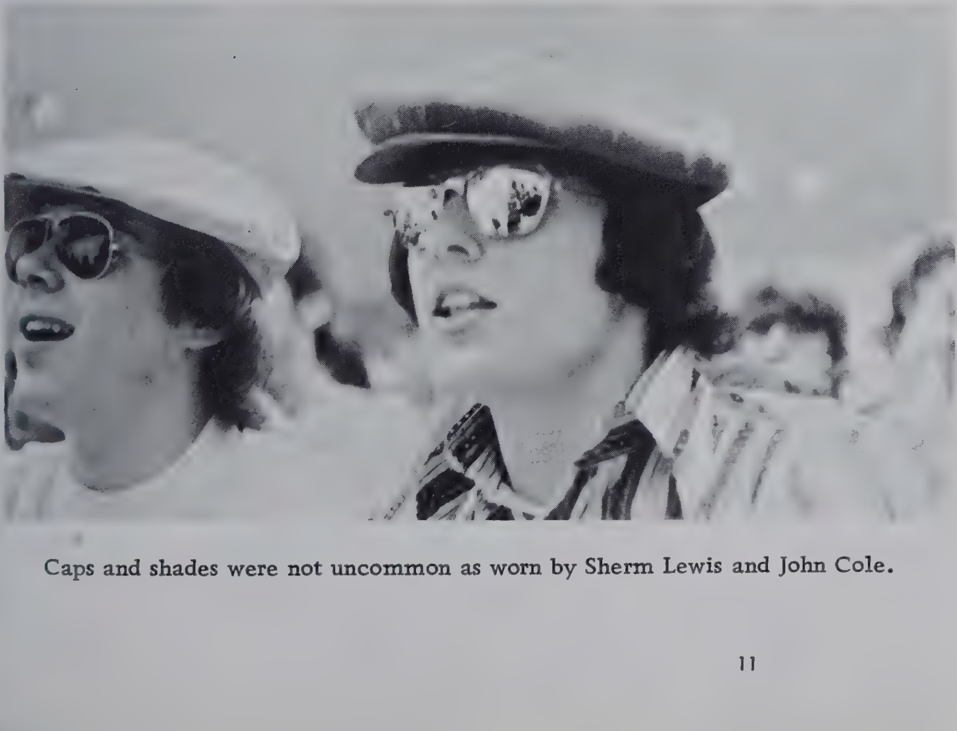
Maxis, Minis, Midis and Burnies "Deck the Halls"



Caps and shades were not uncommon as worn by Sherm Lewis and John Cole.

Long hair, bernies, and wire rims topped the fashions for guys; while girls donned shags, wire rims, and chokers.

The new dress code bloomed as mini, maxi, and midi skirts, outfitted with peasant blouses, dressed the halls at GHS. The popularity of pantsuits and slacks grew as students and teachers took advantage of the liberal code. Adidas, tank tops, and hot pants sprouted midway through the year at parties and games to end the fashion scene at Garrett.

Thespians Present, "Annie

Charlie, B. B., Annie, and Frank sing "There's No Business Like Show Business."

On April 30 and May 1, the Garrett Thespian Troup presented a musical comedy entitled "Annie Get Your Gun", under the direction of Mr. Bockman, with Toni Snook as Student Director. "Annie" is the story of Miss Annie Oakley, the crude backwoods sharpshooter, portrayed by Polly Creager, who first wins a shooting contest against Frank Butler, the suave "champion", played by Dan Miller. Annie goes on to join the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, save the show, marry Frank, and prove that "There's No Business Like Show Business".

Convocations Cater to a Variety of Interests

In September, the "Trust Company", representing Campus Life, entertained students with a skit and folk songs. David Rubinoff presented a variety concert in which he played the violin to the tunes of "Yesterday", "Impossible Dream", and "Raindrops Keep Fallin'". He also did a violin version of several popular television commercials. At the Christmas convocation the chorus sang, the band played, and a skit, "The Littlest Angel", was given. Other programs that added variety were: the art of yoga, music from bottles, and ventriloquism.

The Talent Contest, sponsored by Student Council, marked the beginning of the Little 500. All twelve entries received cash prizes. The 1st prize winner, Polly Creager, performed two vocal selections. Gary LaLone took 2nd place with an original drum solo. Playing his own composition, Larry Asher won 3rd prize. In the Saturday ping-pong tourney, Cathy McIntosh won the girl's competition, while Allen Thorne topped all in his division. Following the time trials, all participants joined in a parade. The soccer game between the Freshman and Sophomore boys ended with a victory for the Sophomores. The Sophomore girls carried on with a victory over the Freshman girls in buck-buck. The Senior guys defeated the Juniors in pushball 3--0, and the Senior girls trounced the Junior team in football 14--6. The Little 500 bicycle race ended with a victory for last year's champions: Tim Thrush, Jeff Stroman, Dan Miller, and Don Clark. Saturday night, students danced to the sound of the "Medusa", bringing the Little 500 to a close.

Dan Miller, master of ceremonies, introduced Dick Seager's Band who provided music for the evening. The audience was also entertained by the Tahuana Dancers. They performed dances native of Tahiti and Hawaii and persuaded several members of the audience to join them.

To conclude the evening, the Junior Class presented Mrs. Dorothy Pence a centerpiece for her work on the prom.

May 23, 1971--Graduation Day for 133 Seniors brought mixed emotions: the happiness of finally receiving that important piece of paper, sadness at saying good-bye to friends, and relief of being finished with the hectic days of high school. Baccalaureate and Commencement were on the same day for the first time. Rev. McCallister spoke for Baccalaureate in the afternoon, and the choir sang three numbers.

Commencement was opened with a welcome by the president of the Senior Class, Rick Chamberlin. The Valedictorian and Salutatorian gave speeches. The main speech for the evening was presented by Mr. Herbert Schwomeyer of Butler University. Seniors were presented with pens by the Garrett State Bank, pink roses by Mr. D. L. Haffner, and wallet-size diplomas by Mr. Max Bock.

Valedictorian, Steve Cobbs, maintained a grade point average of 3.915. Salutatorian, Karen Haynes, ended her senior year with a 3.858 average.

Cadet Teachers Gain Know How

A second semester course in Cadet Teaching had 17 seniors spending two periods a day with grade school and Junior High students. The seniors observed and experienced the students at work in their classes and during recesses. On Monday mornings, the seniors discussed the behavior of the students in an effort to understand and prepare themselves for possible careers in teaching. They were placed in classes including Special Education, Physical Education, Music, Library, and regular classes on a preference basis. They also became acquainted with the non-grading system established in the J. E. Ober School this past year.

Students Practice Self Expression

Crime and Punishment, poetry analysis, and term papers on the 'Arts', merged in Senior Composition class. Senior World Literature students presented plays on the elements of tragedy. They also interpreted poetry orally, and did collages on protest.

Juniors composed themes for the Rotary Club speech contest. They discussed "Hamlet", and reviewed the fundamentals of grammar.

One theme a week was required of Sophomore students. They read several short stories and traced the history of American Literature.

Freshmen used the SRA kit to improve reading. They observed T.V. programs and discussed the relationship between the programs and their lives.

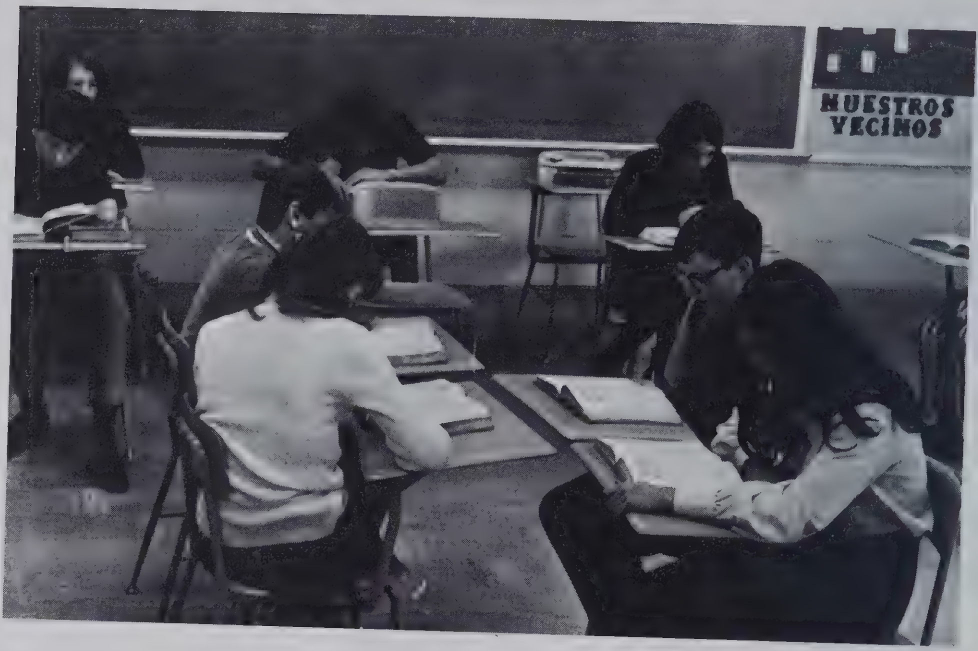
Tapes, Posters Tie GHS to Spain

Denny Costin reports on the customs and activities of the Spanish people.



Sophomores, in Miss Haynes' class, strengthen their vocabulary in group practice.

Fifty-two students were enrolled in the first three years of Spanish. With the aid of tapes, first year students created a working vocabulary, and learned at least three tenses. The other years were a continuation of the first year with the addition of literature and history.

"Latin Lives" at Garrett High

In the first year, Latin students worked basically with English derivatives with emphasis on the historic and cultural aspects of the Roman society. Students were drilled on basic grammar and vocabulary words in preparation of almost daily quizzes.

In the second year, grammar and vocabulary were expanded, and the history of Rome was investigated. The students were introduced to the lives and writings of Caesar and Livy. The third and fourth years, they were familiarized with the works of Cicero and Virgil.

The Garrett High School Choir tookon a new look this year, by donning navy blue robes with maroon and navy collars. Several members joined in the Thanksgiving Community Song Service. The choir's first project was the Christmas concert, presented on December 20. Both the High School and Jr. High Choirs performed a variety of selections for the public, and both choirs joined in the final song. For the Christmas convocation, the choir sang "Low How A Rose", "Carol of the Bells", and other songs. In February, all choir members sold Rex, an all-purpose cleaner, as a money making project. In the spring, they learned "Aquarius", "You'll Never Walk Alone", and "Traces" in preparation for the spring concert. In May, the choir sang for the Senior Baccalaureate Service.

FRONT ROW--Valorie Sipe, Linda Housel, Chris Voit, Sue Hall, Debbie Lampe, Allen Thorn, Tom Wiley, Bruce Rugman, Christine McCartney, Mike Hockaday, Roxie Treesh, Jon Wilmot, Connie Seigler, Sharon Driver. Two Solos, Ensembles Compete in State Contest

Forty-eight G.H.S. students are members of the Garrett High School Band, under the leadership of Mr. Brandt. Marching in front of football crowds and in the DeKalb County Fair parade were the fall activities. In December, the band presented a Christmas concert, and helped in the Christmas convocation, giving a version of "The Night Before Christmas" --in German. At every home basketball game, the band roused school spirit with the school song, "Cheer, Cheer," and other pepsongs. Two band members tried-out for all-state band and two solos and two ensembles went to state in the NISBOVA contest. The money earned from the candy sold by band members goes into a general uniform fund.

DE Allows On-the-Job Training

Distributive Education, known as DE, allowed students to attend classes in the morning and hold a part-time job in the afternoon. During third period the students learned about merchandising and sales. The employers cooperated with Mr. McCartney, who heads the program, by evaluating the students at work. Mr. McCartney also sponsors DECCA to aid the members.

Another vocational activity, ICE, permitted students wishing to take courses not offered at Garrett to attend classes in area schools, including East Noble and DeKalb.

Science Fair Held at Gym

Dissecting frogs and grasshoppers and being tested on biology terms allowed students to better understand the function of systems. Labs on the regeneration of planaria, blood types, enzymes, and semester projects were activities of Biology II.

Physics class had students participating in the teaching. Each week they demonstrated experiments such as the refraction of light and the laws of motion.

Chemistry classes experimented with molecular weight and made an "ammonia fountain". They also organized projects dealing with the properties of chemicals.

Junior-High groups sculptured and glazed ashtrays and vases in clay. Paper mache masks were constructed and painted. Some drawings and work in copper were introduced for the first. The advanced painting class completed eight projects during the year. These were two monochromatic palette knife paintings, an acrylic and tissue painting, and a self-portrait in tempera. In ceramics, they constructed an abstract form from strips of clay, and one clay piece was thrown on the potter's wheel. A sand mold and a strip cast mold were also done by the advanced class. Original wall hangings and mobiles were fashioned. Several paintings created by the advanced students were displayed in the business lab.

The Student Council started off the year by revising the school's dress code. For the first time in GHS history, girls were allowed to wear slacks. Again this year, the Council sponsored Park Tae Bok, a foster child from Korea, and held the magazine sales. Student Council also helped with the blood bank, and Love Can, bought NEIAC conference banners, sponsored the Little 500 and Talent Night, and supervised the student lounge. The members initiated Garrett High School's membership in the Basketball Hall of Fame. At the end of the year, they presented the John F. Kennedy Scholarship to a member of the Senior Class.

"The Littlest Angel" was presented at Christmas time during the Christmas Convocation by the Garrett Chapter of the National Thespian Society. The twenty-five members have each earned the total of ten points necessary to be asked to join the Thespian Society. Points are earned by portraying a major or minor role in a dramatic production or by serving on a committee. Several of the members traveled to the Civic Theater to see the "Taming of The Shrew". Meeting twice a month on Tuesday morning, the troupe also presented the musical "Annie Get Your Gun."

Archery, Jarts—New GAA Sports

The 71 members of The Girl's Athletic Association organized several new activities: gymnastics, bicycling, archery, and tennis. They also had basketball, volleyball, and softball. The girls picnicked in September at Pokagon. For initiation, members did not wear make-up, had three pigtails, wore white socks and 'tennies'. On October 31, the girls dressed up for a Halloween Party in the new gym. At Christmas they had a gift exchange at their Christmas Party. On May 10, GAA members presented a Parents' Night. Pep Clubs Make the Difference

The 80 members of girls' pep club, attired in navy blue coulottes and white tops trimmed in navy blue with "GHS Railroaders" inscribed on them, backed the teams along with the boy's pep club. The 60 member boy's squad was organized to follow the basketball team from the sectional to the semi-state.

Throughout the year, each class in pep club rotated in making decorations for the hoop, lockers, and halls. The girls formed victory lines and were in charge of football and basketball homecoming. During the tourney, they decorated cars with balloons and crepe-paper for 50¢ and led a caravan to the coliseum. A Sadie Hawkins Dance and bake sale also raised money.

To begin the year, the members of the Streamliner staff visited the headquarters of the News-Sentinel. There they viewed the steps in producing and printing a newspaper.

The staff chose Hartco as printers for the school paper. Because of the lower cost and leniency in formats, they were able to add variety to the paper's layouts. To decrease the debt for production of the Streamliner, the staff doubled the number of previous subscriptions sold, sponsored a basketball game between the Redheads and the faculty and a dance featuring the rock group, Atlantis.

The yearbook staff spent hours making layouts and fitting pictures and copy for the Aeolian. Members worked until 10 p.m. and on Saturdays to make deadlines and make-up for missed ones.

The yearbook increased its size to 8 1/2" by 11" and added 8 pages. Staff members designed the cover and incorporated artwork and direct line, amline, and overprint pictures within the Aeolian.

The yearbook and Streamliner photographers worked to equip the darkroom at school. By second semester they developed many pictures for both school publications.

During the last week of school, the "Big Three", Leslie, Lisa, and Karen, rushed with layouts, heads, copy, and pictures, and fought off kids from attempting to see pictures, to make the May 31 deadline.

Competition clutches the key.
In the spectacle of sport rests the chalice
From which every athlete must drink.

For his achievement is attained through competition.

Tom Thrush, football captain, presents the NEIAC trophy to the school.

Never before in the sports annals of Garrett High School has such a tremendous accomplishment been achieved. An undefeated season clinched the Northeastern Indiana Athletic Conference crown for the second consecutive year for the Railroaders. This season's record extended Garrett's winning streak to 17 in a row. The offensive team sustained as average of 31.00 points per game, and the defense surrendered only 6.38 points per game. The Associated Press ranked Garrett 18 out of 435 high schools in the state. This was the highest rank achieved in the history of Garrett football teams.

Named to the NEIAC all conference teams for the Railroaders were: First team; Dan Maurer, Steve Dembickie, and Mike Derickson, second team; Tom Thrush, Don Clark, and Jeff Stroman, third team; Tom Miller and Rick Chamberlin, honorable mention; Tom Blotkamp and Dan Miller.

United Press International selected Mike Derickson as defensive back on the all state first team.

In the Associated Press poll, Steve Dembickie as offensive and defensive tackle, Mike Derickson as offensive fullback and defensive linebacker, and Jeff Stroman as offensive halfback and defensive safety, earned all state honorable mention.

The Railroad to Victory Is Sparked by the Fuel of Desire

Consolidations have caused the strength of small schools to be pitted against the combined strength of many others. Going into a tourney, many fans assume that the single small school has no chance of winning. This fact, their up-and-down seasonal record, and their defeats in seasonal play by opponents in the tourney, hindered the Railroaders' chances in the minds of the people, as the favorites in the Sectional, Regional, and Semi-State. Helping to prove that strength does not always lie in numbers, Garrett combined skill, sportsmanship, teamwork, and enthusiasm to defeat many larger schools and move into the coveted ranks of the "Sweet 16" in Indiana Basketball competition.

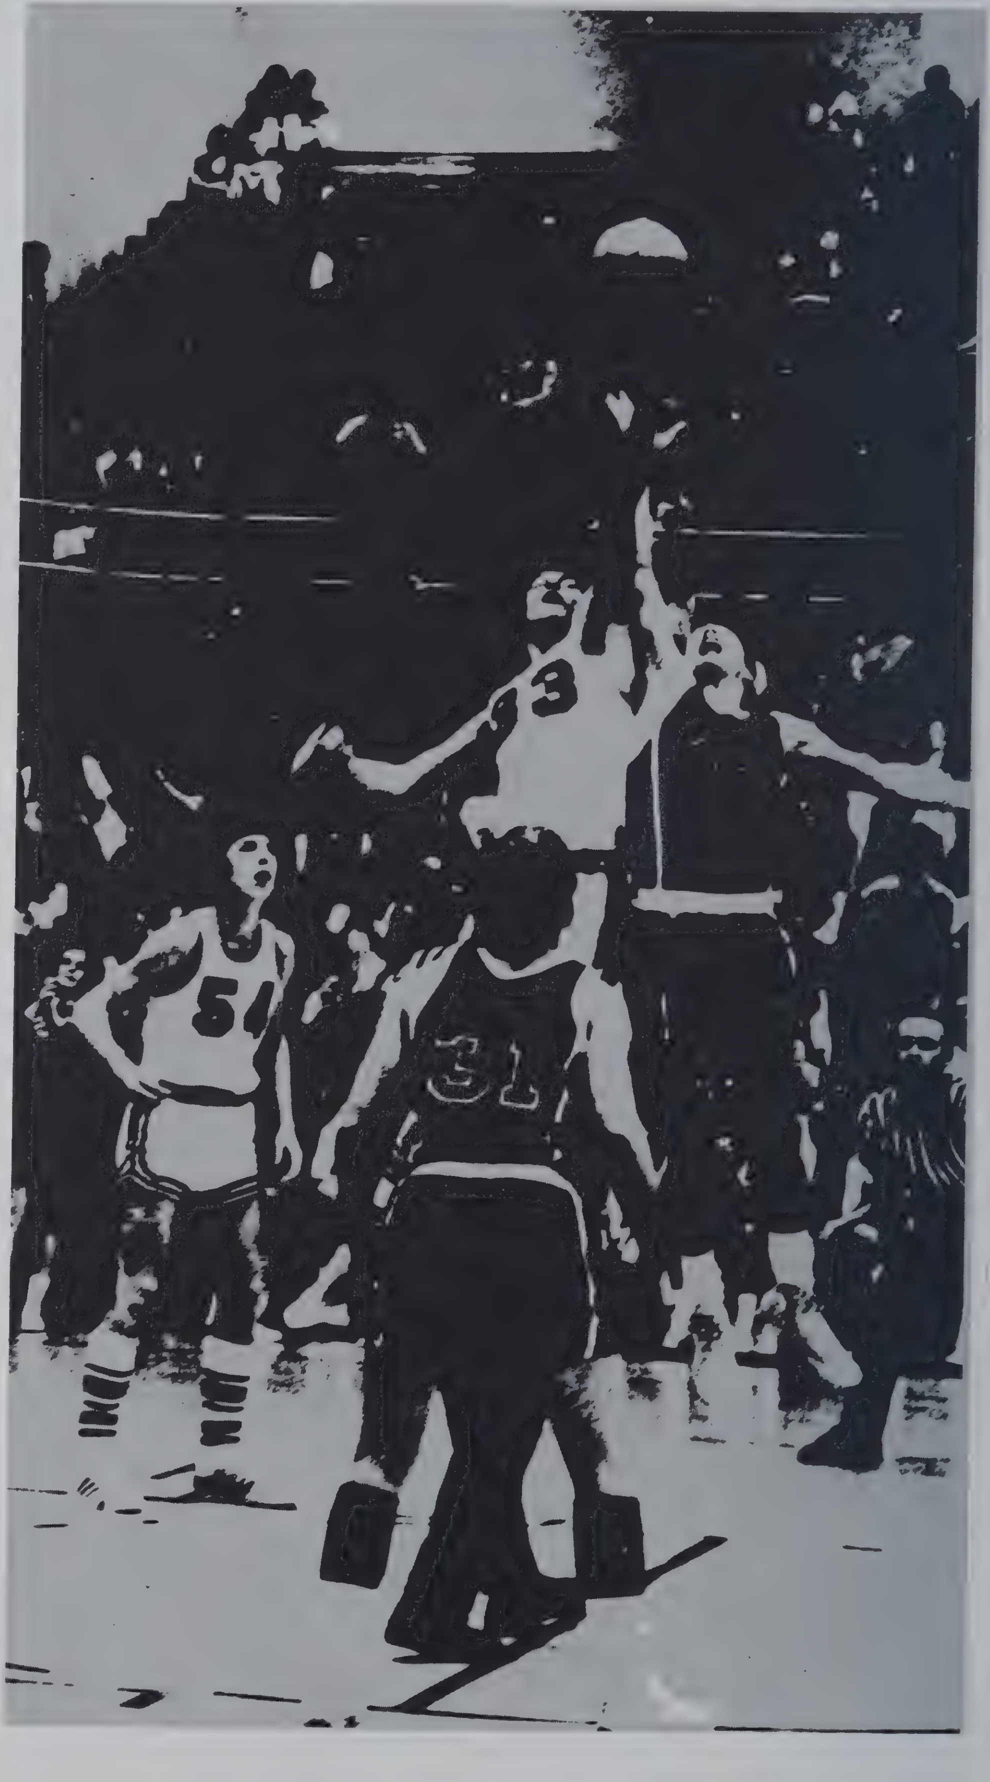
Railroaders Struggle Through Inconsistent Season

A resounding opening season victory over Fremont got the Railroaders off on the right track . . . Central Noble outscored Garrett 28 to 12 in the last quarter to take the second game. East Noble came from behind to win in front of Garrett's largest hometown crowd . . . Greg Steward's tip-in gave Garrett a one-point victory over previously unbeaten Carroll, but Bishop Dwenger downed the Railroaders when Garrett committed three consecutive errors in the last few minutes . . . Garrett bombed Bluffton by shooting 46% from the field . . .



Domination of the backboards paved the way for the victories over Columbia City and Lakeland . . . The Cadets shaded the Railroaders with a basket in the last 13 seconds of the game . . . Ball-handling errors cost Garrett wins over Snider and Eastside . . . Garrett sparked in the second half to defeat Angola . . . In the final game of the season, Garrett donned new royal blue warmup suits with red and white stripes and battled with sure rebounding to defeat Hamilton.

Lepley snaps rebound above the heads of Steward and Eastside's Rosenbury in Sectional Finals at DeKalb.

Railroaders Snare Regional Title

Screaming sirens and jubilant fans welcomed the Railroaders home from their first Sectional victory since 1966. The first night of play, Garrett triumphed over Prairie Heights. In the semifinals, Garrett walloped DeKalb 80--64 with an aggressive offense and tight defense, while Eastside ousted Hamilton 84--64, earning the right to tangle with the Railroaders in the final game. Eastside had beaten Garrett earlier in the season, but the Railroaders came back shooting 42%. Garrett out-rebounded Eastside 31--26 and only five turnovers. This netted the Sectional title for the Railroaders, and put them in contention for the Regional crown.

Going into the afternoon game with a height disadvantage against Fairfield, Garrett came through with a victory. Jeff Stroman's last second basket sent the team into the evening game, where they defeated Elmhurst 71--60 to take the Regional crown. More than 70 cars, firetrucks, and three fan busses welcomed the victorious Railroaders home.

Outsized, the Railroaders fell to the Madison Heights Pirates 75--59, in the afternoon game. The positioning of Garrett under the nets to overcome the height factor worked for three quarters as the score read 47--43, Anderson. However, the strain of the height and a zone press led to Garrett's downfall.

The Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Thomas Crist, compiled a 13--9 season record. The Handcars started off the year by winning four of their first five games, but the team bogged down during the middle of the season as they dropped eight of the next nine. Approaching the end of the year, the boys were able to work at defeating the last six opponents including Norwell in an overtime. The Handcars came in third at the Reserve Tournament at Kokomo by defeating Lafayette Jefferson in the morning.

Ten men responded to Coach Bateman's call to spring golf practice, including the top five players from 1970.

The linksmen started by beating both North Side and South Side as they compiled an early 5--2 record . . . A five man total of 188 established a new school record in a meet with South Adams, and a second in the 19 team Central Noble Invitational gave each player a trophy . . . Garrett finished sixth in the conference meet at Angola, but Brad Kinsey placed fifth and Stan Kinsey twelfth, individually, to receive medals . . . the team finished with an 11--10 season to end Coach Bateman's last year as coach.

Here we go

GARRETT

Throughout the sports seasons, Seniors, Connie Rapp, captain; Deb Neukom; and Cathy McIntosh; and Junior, Sheila Lillie, promoted pep and enthusiasm in students and adults. Other activities were sending "Welcome" cards to the cheerleaders of the opposing teams and treating them to cokes at half-time. During the football season, they decorated the goal posts and led the victory line at the games. The girls also held pizza parties for the basketball team during sectional and regional competition. The cheerleaders raised money by sponsoring the annual Christmas Dance and selling candy. Profits were used to buy Varsity cheerleading jackets and coulottes.

Practice, Pep, Smiles Rally Spirit

Performing with the guys are cheerleaders Cathy McIntosh, Deb Neukom, Sheila Lillie, and Connie Rapp.

HERE WE GO!

Cheering for the freshmen are Rena Engelhard, Marilyn Miller, and Kathy Quince in new navy and white uniforms.

Substituting for the sick or disabled are Varsity and JV alternates Becky Weller and Marilyn Mavity.

RIGHT: Eighth grade cheerleaders are Maureen Moran, Debbie Bradley, and Sheila King.

In a break of tradition, Yogi Picklesimer, a Freshman, was elected to the reserve cheerleading squad, along with Freshman Terry Buckles and Renee Shuff. They not only led the cheering at all junior varsity games, but they also worked with the varsity cheerleaders on the school song, "Cheer Cheer," and other yells. At times, they helped plan the pep sessions and skits. The reserves raised money by aiding the varsity cheerleaders in selling candy.

Seventh grade cheerleaders are Debbie Wiley, Sandy Kruger, and Laura Crager.

faces

Faces progress and reced to form a crowd.
A stranger waits to become a friend.
Why must emotions be worn like masks?
People portray many roles in the sea of life.
Smiles and tears pierce the blur of the crowd.
What role will be portrayed today?
The stage is set.
The curtain rises,
And the play of life begins FROM THIS MOMENT ON . . .

Graduation '71 . . . All Right!

Winning first prize in Council Capers with 'Candyland' climaxed our freshman year. With money earned from concessions and record hops, we presented the prom "To Rome With Love." As seniors we worked to surpass the goal of raising $1,100 for the yearbook. Tradition was broken as we presented an evening of three one-act plays. Now, leaving high school, we are at the end of the beginning FROM THIS MOMENT ON . . .

We live in deeds, not years; in thought, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart-throbs. He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best.

Affectionately Dedicated to "Mr. B"

We, the staff of the 1971 AEOLIAN, do hereby affectionately dedicate this book to our advisor, Mr. John Bockman.

For the past four years, Mr. John Bockman worked to spark cultural interest at GHS. Through his work with the choir, he more than tripled its membership and activities. He devoted many hours in the field of drama and strove to bridge the gap between teacher and student. Therefore, we the staff of the 1971 AEOLIAN, do hereby affectionately dedicate this book to our advisor, Mr. John Bockman.

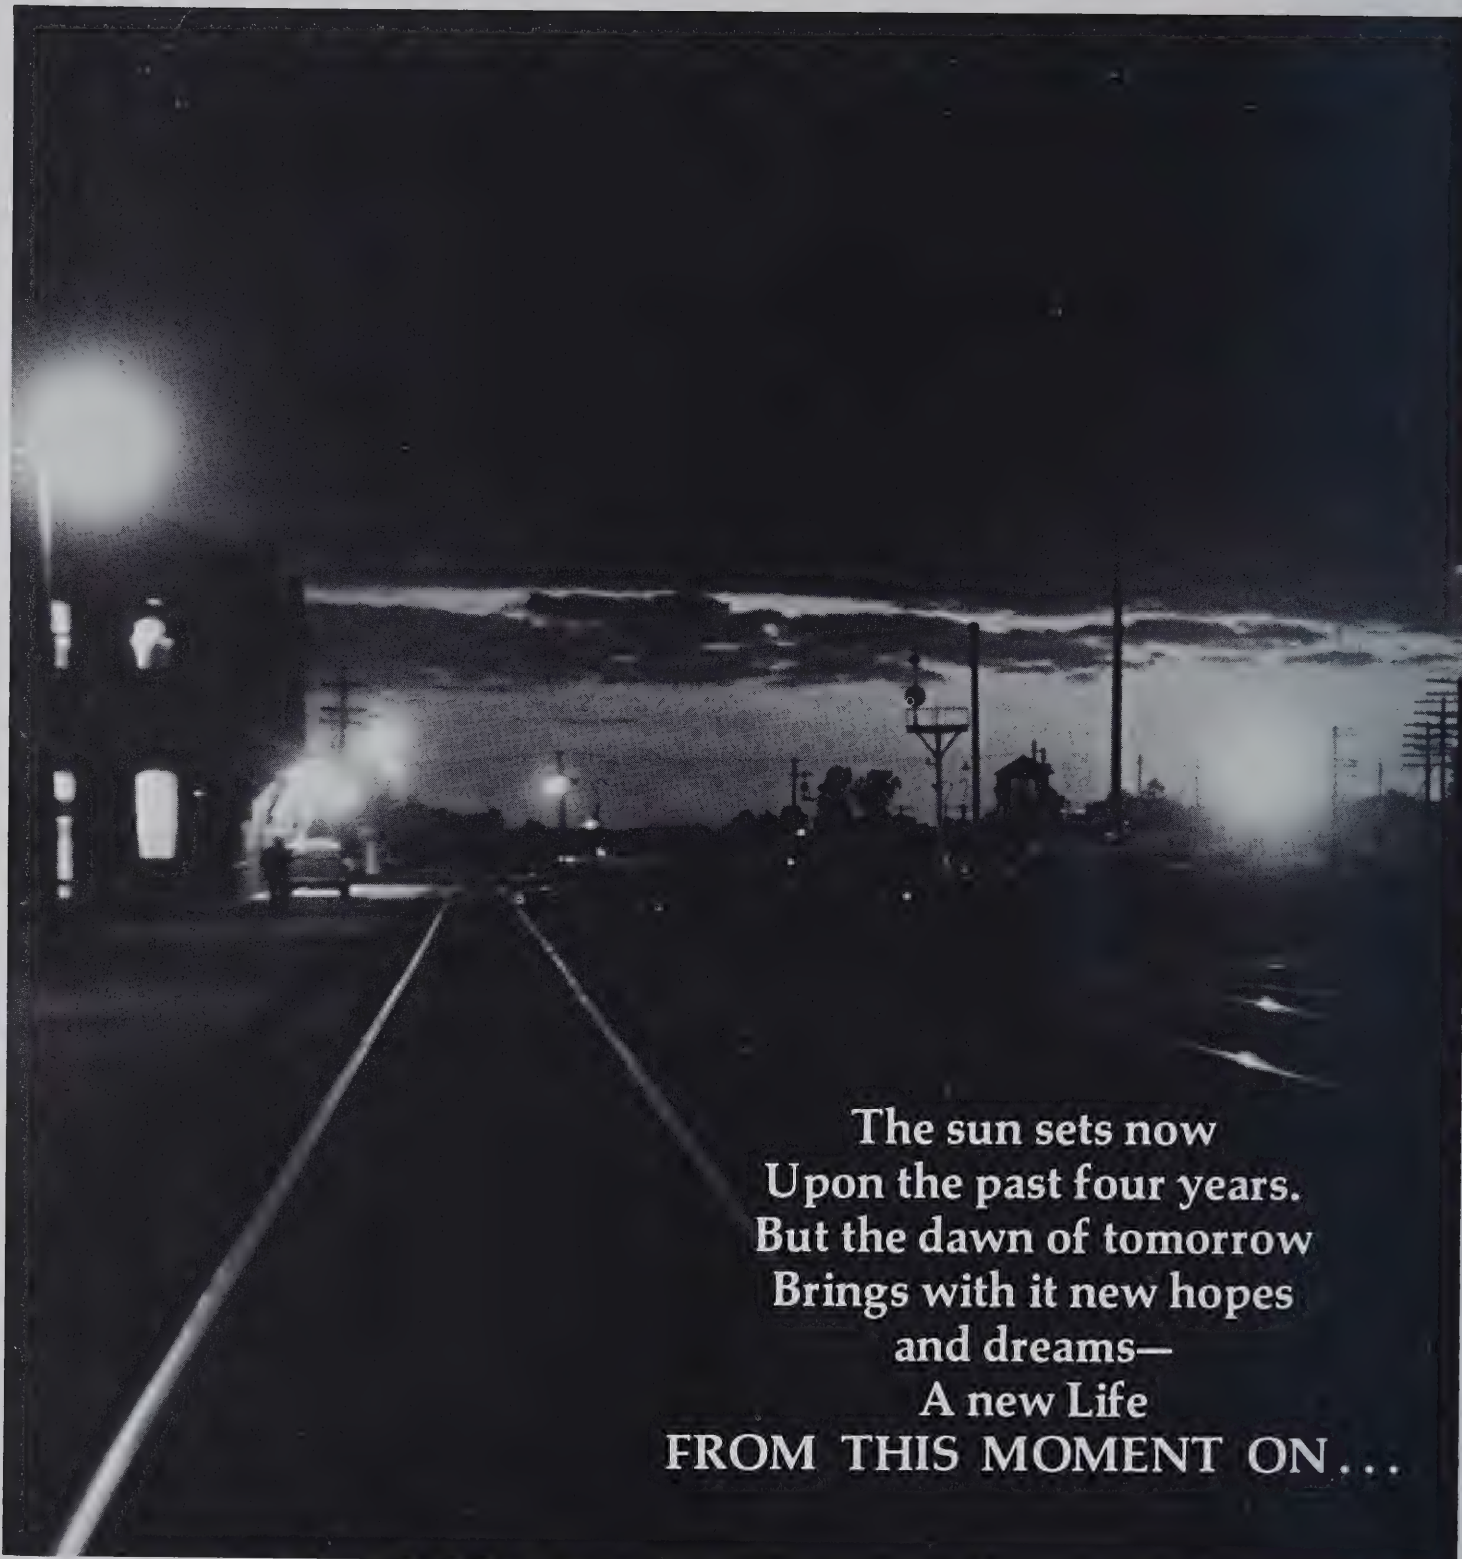
Nate Panning directs the chorus.



The sun sets now
Upon the past four years.
But the dawn of tomorrow
Brings with it new hopes and dreams—
A new Life
FROM THIS MOMENT ON . . .
